ORDER VIII

WRITTEN STATEMENT, SET-OFF AND COUNTERCLAIM

Written statement

1.-(1) Where a summons to appear has been issued, the defendant may, and if so required by the court, shall, at or before the first hearing or within such time as the court may permit, present to the court a written statement of his defence.

(2) Where a summons to file a defence has been issued and the defendant wishes to defend the suit, he shall, within twenty-one days of the date of service of the summons upon him or such longer period as the court may direct in the summons, present to the court a written statement of his defence:

Provided that the court may extend the period for the presentation of the written statement of defence on application by the defendant or on receipt of a notice in writing of the plaintiff's consent to such extension.

New facts must be specially pleaded

2. The defendant must raise by his pleading all matters which show the suit not to be maintainable, or that the transaction is either void or voidable in point of law, and all such grounds of defence as, if not raised, would be likely to take the opposite party by surprise, or would raise issues of fact not arising out of the plaint, as, for instance, fraud, limitation, release, payment, performance, or facts showing illegality.

Denial to be specific

3. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his written statement to deny generally the grounds alleged by the plaintiff, but the defendant must deal specifically with each allegation of fact of which he does not admit the truth, except damages.

Evasive denial

4. Where a defendant denies an allegation of fact in the plaint, he must not do so evasively, but answer the point of substance. Thus, if it is alleged that he received a certain sum of money, it shall not be sufficient to deny that he received that particular amount, but he must deny that he received that sum or any part thereof or else set out how much he received. And if an allegation is made with diverse circumstances, it shall not be sufficient to deny it along with those circumstances.

Specific denial

5. Every allegation of fact in the plaint, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant, shall be taken to be admitted except as against a person under disability:

Provided that the court may in its discretion require any fact so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admission.

6. (1) Where in a suit for the recovery of money the defendant claims to set-off against the plaintiff's demand any ascertained sum of money legally recoverable by him from the plaintiff, not exceeding the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of the court, and both parties fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit, the defendant may, at the first hearing of the suit, but not afterwards unless permitted by the court, present a written statement containing the particulars of the debt sought to be set-off.

Particulars of set-off to be given in written statement

(2) The written statement shall have the same effect as a plaint in a cross-suit so as to enable the court to pronounce a final judgment respect both of the original claim and of the set-off: but this shall not affect the lien, upon the amount decreed, of any advocate in respect of the costs payable to him under the decree.

Effect of set-off

(3) The rules relating to a written statement by a defendant shall apply to a written statement in answer to a claim of set-off.

7. Where the defendant relies upon several distinct grounds of defence or set-off founded upon separate and distinct facts, they shall be stated as far as may be, separately and distinctly.

Defence of set-off founded on separate grounds

8. Any ground of defence which has arisen after the institution of the suit or the presentation of a written statement claiming a set-off may be raised by the defendant or plaintiff, as the case may be, in his written statement.

New ground of defence

9. (1) Where in any suit the defendant alleges that he has any claim or is entitled to any relief or remedy against the plaintiff in respect of a cause of action accruing to the defendant before the presentation of a written statement of his defence, the defendant may in his written statement of defence state particulars of the claim made or relief or remedy sought by him.

(2) Where a counterclaim is set-up in a written statement of defence, the counterclaim shall be treated as a cross-suit and the written statement shall have the same effect as a plaint in a cross suit, and the provisions of Order VII shall apply mutatis mutandis to such written statement as if it were a plaint.

10. (1) Where a defendant, by a written statement, sets up any counterclaim which raises questions between himself and the plaintiff along with another person (whether or not a party to the suit), he may join that person as a party against whom the counterclaim is made.

Counter-claim against plaintiff and third party

(2) Where a defendant joins a person as party against whom a counterclaim is made he shall add to the title of the written statement of defence a further title similar to the title in a plaint setting forth the name of such person and a copy of such written statement of defence together with a notice requiring such person, should he wish to defend the defendant's counterclaim, to file his written reply in answer to the claim within the period specified in rule 11 shall be served on him as if such notice were summons and such counterclaim were a plaint,

Reply, to counter-claim ,

11.-(1) Where a defendant sets up a counterclaim the plaintiff and the person (if any) who is joined as a party against whom the counterclaim is made, shall each, if he wishes to dispute the counterclaim, present to the court a written reply containing statement of his defence in answer to the counterclaim within twenty-one days from the date of the service upon him of the counterclaim or such longer period as the court may, on the application of such person, direct.

(2) The rules relating to a written statement of defence by a defendant shall apply to a reply by the plaintiff or a person joined as a party against whom a counterclaim is made.

Court may order separate trial of counter-claim

12. Where a defendant has set up a counterclaim the court may, if it is of the opinion that the subject matter of the counterclaim ought for any reason to be disposed of by a separate suit, order the counterclaim to be struck out or order it to be tried separately or make such other order as may be expedient.

Subsequent pleadings

13. No pleading subsequent to the written statement of a defendant other than by way of defence to a set-off or counterclaim shall be presented except by the leave of the court and upon such terms as the court thinks fit, but the court may at any time require a written statement or additional written statement from any of the parties and fix a time for presenting the same:

Provided that where a defendant has presented a written statement of defence in accordance with a summons to file a defence the plaintiff may, without obtaining leave of the court, present a reply to the written statement of defence within seven days after the written statement of defence, or, where there are two or more defendants, the last of the written statements of defence, shall have been served upon him in accordance with the provisions of rule 2 of Order VI.

Failure to present written statement of defence

14.-(1) Where any party has been required to present a written statement under sub-rule (1) of rule 1 or a reply under rule 11 of this Order and fails to present the same within the time fixed by the court, the court may pronounce judgment against him or make such order in relation to the suit or counterclaim, as the case may be, as it thinks fit.

(2) In any case in which a defendant who is required under sub-rule (2) of rule 1 to present his written statement of defence fails to do so within the period specified in the summons or, where such period has been extended in accordance with the proviso to that sub-rule, within the period of such extension, the court may-

- (a) where the claim is for a liquidated sum not exceeding one thousand shillings, upon application in writing by the plaintiff and upon proof by affidavit or oral evidence of service of the summons, enter judgment in favour of the plaintiff without requiring him to prove his claim;
- (b) in any other case, upon application in writing by the plaintiff, fix a day for ex-parte proof and may pronounce judgment in favour of the plaintiff upon such proof of his claim.

15. As soon as the written statement of defence, or the last written statement of defence, if there are more defendants than one, and the reply (if any) thereto, or the last reply if there are more plaintiffs than one, or other pleadings have been presented, the case shall be deemed to be ready for hearing and a day shall be fixed by the court accordingly on the application of either party; but if no application is made within fourteen days of the date on which the case is deemed to be ready for hearing, the court of its own motion shall fix the hearing date.

When all pleadings presented

ORDER IX

Parties to appear on day fixed in summons or on day fixed for hearing

Dismissal of suit where summons not served in consequence of plaintiff's failure to pay costs

Provided that no such order shall be made although the summons has not been served upon the defendant, if on the day fixed for him to appear and answer he attends in person or by agent when he is allowed to appear by agent.

Where neither party appears suit to be dismissed

4. Where a suit is dismissed under rule 2 or rule 3, the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit, or he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if he satisfies the court that there was sufficient cause for his not paying the court-fee and postal charges (if any) required within the time fixed before the issue of the summons, or for his non-appearance, as the case may be, the court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.
